Mrs. J. N. Shaw of South Windham has a tomato plant on which is a green tomato which measures 5 1/4 inches in circumference.

Rev. Edward P. Holton, for 25 years in the Madura mission fields of southern India, is in this country on a furlough and is visiting relatives in Cornwall.

George Ingram, aged 73 years, was found dead in one of the buildings at his home in South Halifax last week. He had been in ill health for some time.

Leslie Daniell, aged 17, of West Danville pleaded guilty in St. Johnsbury municipal court Friday to the charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated. He was fined $50 and costs of $8.05, which was paid.

The Blanchard, Gates & Woodworth sawmill in South Vernon was burned Saturday. The boiler and engine were saved and the stable, in which were a number of horses. The rain assisted in saving this property.

A year ago a vote was taken to remove the offices of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America from Brattleboro, but at a recent annual meeting it was decided to rescind that vote and let the offices remain at Brattleboro as they are now.

Bennington village and the village of North Bennington have set their clocks ahead an hour and are operating on the daylight saving plan, the change being made yesterday morning. The change of time will continue until the last Sunday in September. The adoption of the change was by vote of the majority of the people of the two villages.

HOTELS MAINTAIN PRICES.

Claim They Did Not Advance in Proportion to the Costs.

The Hotel Association of Vermont held an enthusiastic meeting in Burlington afternoon and evening, the first in nearly three years. President Max L. Powell of this city presided. The association went on record as favoring a statement prepared by L. G. Treadway of Williamstown, Mass., which indorses present hotel rates and the ground that hotels are not doing more than to operate but not taking losses for lack of fair profits as they went.

There were about 50 hotel proprietors, owners and managers present from various parts of the state. The keynote of the discussion at the afternoon session was "The Hotel Road to Success" by W. H. Barry of Bennington. Among those who spoke of the need of better roads to attract tourists, R. H. Darrow of Boston, who has been instrumental in mapping out several roads through New England, declared that people don't care to spend the summer in Vermont because Vermont isn't properly boasted.

At the evening reunion of the Vermont Hotel Keepers' association the following officers were elected: A. B. Wilder, Woodstock, president; Jerome L. Hale, Wells River, vice-president; Robert C. Boynton, Rutland, secretary and treasurer; A. E. Martin, Manchester, president-elect; W. H. Barry, Bennington, and Herbert Moore, St. Johnsbury, executive committee.

Vermont Corporation Matters.

The Corliss Hardware company of Springfield has filed articles of association in the office of the secretary of state for the purpose of conducting business in Springfield. The papers are signed by F. W. Maude and C. A. Corliss of Springfield. The capital stock is $30,000.

The Wilder-Cady corporation, organized to conduct business in Bellows Falls, has filed articles of association in the same office. Their papers are signed by W. R. Wilder, E. R. Cady and H. T. Kelley of Bellows Falls. The capital stock is $10,000.

The Roberts Automobile company of Brattleboro has filed a statement that the company proposes to issue 320 shares of stock at $100 a share and also a statement that the paid-up capital now amounts to $18,000.

News comes from the dancing masters that the "toddle," "close-up," "shimmy," "camel walk," "jazz" and other freakish and ungraceful dance vogues are passing, with prospects of a return to so-called "standard" steps. This merely suggests the enquiry: What have dancing masters to do with the dancing of the populace?

The excuse for most of these waddling, giggling, shivering, posturing, clutching, face-to-face, sweaty and degraded dances is that they express the exuberance of youth. So do the lula, the can-can, the "danse du ventrile" and the snake dances of the Orient. Some of them are tolerated for their art or racial meaning; jazz persists because no one has the nerve to stop it.

When Mrs. Austin talked to the Woman's club last week about chaperoning public dances, she said that she had to do when dancing couples attempted the visible impropriety was to give them a quiet signal or call.

Mr. Charles O. Chatterton, writing from his home at 328 Pawtucket Ave., Pawtucket, Mass., tells how he started for the basement to fix the heater and fell down the stairs hurting his knee quite badly. Writing of the incident he used, he says: "It came in time, applied it, and it did wonders. Had to remain in the house only two days. I will not be without it if possible to obtain it."

The liniment was that celebrated Scotch Liniment known as Mysterious Paine Ease.

Its users will tell you it will relieve the pain of Lumbago, Muscular colic, stiff neck, pains arising from inflammation, muscle cramps, rheumatism and sprains of all kinds.

Mysterious Paine Ease is sold by leading druggists or they can easily get it for you—Adv.

"It was his fault."

Probably it was—but if he was hurt or his car was damaged and there are big bills to pay, he's going to make you prove it.

Fighting a case in court costs anywhere from a few hundred to several thousand dollars.

Even then the verdict may be rendered against you.

them aside or in extreme cases to say, "Stand away from my partner."

It is a fact that police-chaperoned public dances are the most orderly and decent dances in the world. Must we have a police matron or a uniformed officer to prevent young people from visibly embracing each other in public or executing movements that come from the dive, the brothel or the unlicensed dance hall?

The worst exhibition of dancing impropriety in the country is when our so-called "nice" young people get together for a "private" dance, and the chaperons either fall asleep or shut their eyes to impropriety.

We can send a policeman to the public dance, but what good will that do when our un-chaperoned, or half-chaperoned or sleep-chaperoned young folks can get up a dance of their own and out-street women, professional exploiters of the obscene and red-light cadets in their demonstrations?

As we said before: What have the dancing masters to do about it?

There is no particular moral crisis impending; young folks outlive most of their nonsense. We merely express the fervent wish that our girls would not seek to imitate the ladies of the chorus and the "movie lot," to say nothing of worse. We have also aspirations for our boys than a more or less accurate imitation of "lounge lizards."

The phase will pass, but let us chaperons stay awake while it's passing—Rutland Herald.

ESTATE OF LUCIA L. WEBSTER.

State of Vermont, District of Washington, ss. The Honorable Probate Court for the district aforesaid.

To all persons interested in the estate of Lucia L. Webster, late of City of Barre, in said district, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, application has been made to this court in writing by the Montpelier Savings Bank and Trust Company, duly appointed by said court and qualified trustee of a fund created by the last will and testament of Lucia L. Webster, late of City of Barre in said district, deceased, for the benefit of Burton V. Webster, appointed by said court in place of Charles N. Barber, deceased, and setting forth in said application that said Charles N. Barber, in his lifetime, as trustee, purchased with said trust funds and took title to certain land and premises situated in Waterbury in said district, by the deed of warranty of Charles E. Darling and Abbie D. Darling, dated June 28, 1910, and recorded in book 28, page 14 of said Waterbury land records, and that said property now stands of record in the name of Charles N. Barber, trustee, and praying that the record title to said property be transferred to said petitioner as trustee of said fund, by order of said court; and it appearing from the records of said court that Beale M. Barber is the duly appointed and qualified administrator of said estate of said Lucia L. Webster, and that said Beale M. Barber will answer of the estate of said Lucia L. Webster.

WHEREUPON, the said court appointed and assigned the 11th day of May, 1921, at the probate office in Montpelier in said district, to hear and decide upon said application and petition and ordered public notice thereof to be given to all persons interested therein, by publishing said order, together with the time and place of hearing, three weeks successively in the Barre Daily Times, a newspaper which circulates in the neighborhood of the premises in question, and to certain land and premises situated in Waterbury in said district, by the deed of warranty of Charles E.
